

SHORT NOTE

GRADE: 10

SUBJECT: ENGLISH

TITLE: DUST OF SNOW

Introduction:

"Dust of Snow" is a short and beautiful poem written by Robert Frost that was first published in "New Hampshire" in 1923. The poem is about how a small moment can have a large significance and how our perception of things can change our mood and put a greater impact on our lives. The poet mentions a crow, snow, and a hemlock tree to describe his depressive and sorrowful mood. However, the poem also highlights the healing power of nature and how even small things can uplift our mood and bring positivity to our lives.

Overview:

- "Dust of Snow" is a short poem written by Robert Frost that was first published in "New Hampshire" in 1923.
- The poem is about how a small moment can have a large significance and how our perception of things can change our mood and put a greater impact on our lives.
- The poet mentions a crow, snow, and a hemlock tree to describe his depressive and sorrowful mood.
- However, the poem also highlights the healing power of nature and how even small things can uplift our mood and bring positivity to our lives.

Key Points:

- The poem emphasizes the importance of appreciating small moments in life.
- The poet uses the imagery of a crow, snow, and a hemlock tree to describe his depressive and sorrowful mood.
- The poem highlights the healing power of nature and how even small things can uplift our mood and bring positivity to our lives.
- The message of the poem is that our perception of things can change our mood and put a greater impact on our lives.

Conclusion:

In conclusion, "Dust of Snow" is a beautiful poem that emphasizes the importance of appreciating small moments in life and the healing power of nature. The poem highlights how our perception of things can change our mood and put a greater impact on our lives. The imagery of a crow, snow, and a hemlock tree is used to describe the poet's depressive and sorrowful mood, but the poem also shows how even small things can uplift our mood and bring positivity to our lives.